

Archbishop Chapelle High School held its graduation for the Class of 2019 at the Saenger Theatre in New Orleans. Principal Leila Benoit and Associate Principal Susan Panzavecchia awarded the diplomas, followed by the turning of tassels by Dean of Students Connie Dantagnan. Ingrid Fields, Associate Superintendent of the Office of Catholic Schools, was the guest speaker.

The valedictorian was Brenda Marie Hebert and the salutatorian was Molly Rose Snakenberg.

Brenda, daughter of Carl and Angela Hebert, received the Archbishop Chapelle Social Studies Excellence Emerald Award. While attending Chapelle, Brenda was the Senior Class Vice President, Drum Captain for Raider Band, and held leadership positions and was an active member of numerous Chapelle clubs. She received the Flagship Scholars Resident Award and the President's Student Aid Award from Louisiana State University, and the Engineering Scholarship and the Presidential Scholarship from the University of Alabama. Hebert will attend Louisiana State University and pursue a degree in Mechanical Engineering, with the ultimate goal of being a Disney Imagineer.

Molly, daughter of Brian and Ann Snakenberg, received the Our Lady of Prompt Succor Award and the Archbishop Placide Louis Chapelle Outstanding Graduate Emerald Award. During her time at Chapelle, Molly was a member of the Campus Ministry Leadership Team, President of National Honor Society, held leadership positions in several clubs, and was active in many others. She received the Citizenship Award, the Presidential Scholar Award, and the SHC Partnership Award from Spring Hill College, the Academic Scholars Resident Award, the Innovation Prestige Award, and the President's Student Aid Program from Louisiana State University, the Catholic High School Award and the Vice President Tuition Scholarship from Saint Louis University, and the Distinguished Scholars Award from Tulane University. Snakenberg will attend Spring Hill College and pursue a degree in Psychology and Theology. Molly plans to one day teach high school theology.
